Response: Yes

At Government Degree College Kaffota, a rural institution serving primarily the scheduled tribe Hatti community, pre-admission counselling is offered to assist prospective students in making well-informed decisions regarding their educational goals.

i. Mode of Counselling

Counselling sessions are conducted both online and offline to ensure accessibility for all students, regardless of their location or technological resources. Faculty members provide detailed information on the admission process, course options, and requirements, helping students understand what the college offers and guiding them through their initial questions or concerns.

ii. Personalized Guidance

Admission committees are formed for each class and stream, offering tailored support and guidance specific to each academic path. These committees, comprising experienced faculty members, encourage students to explore programs that align with their interests and aspirations, helping them select subjects that match their eligibility and academic strengths.

iii. Fostering Informed Choices

The counselling sessions aim to clarify any uncertainties students may have about course selection, college life, and future career pathways. Faculty members work closely with prospective students, ensuring they feel confident in their decisions and are aware of the opportunities that align with their goals.

iv. Focus on Inclusivity and Support

Recognizing the unique challenges faced by the rural Hatti community, the college strives to create a welcoming environment for first-time college-goers and those from diverse backgrounds. Through these counselling sessions, the college ensures that students feel supported and informed, helping them take the first steps toward a successful academic journey.

This pre-admission counselling process is designed to empower students to make choices that resonate with their academic interests, while fostering a sense of belonging within the college community.
